PLANTATION OF SAPLINGS

Date: 1st August 2025

Venue: Institute of Vocational Studies, New Delhi

A Plantation Drive was conducted on 1st August, 2025 under the valuable guidance of Dr. Mandira Gupta (Principal) at the Institute of Vocational Studies (IVS), New Delhi. This eco-friendly initiative aimed to spread awareness about the vital role trees play in maintaining environmental balance.

The event witnessed active participation from the students of IVS, who planted various saplings within the campus with great enthusiasm and commitment. Their contribution reflected a strong sense of environmental responsibility and care for nature.

Dr. Mandira Gupta (Principal) interacted with the students and explained the importance of plantation in today's world. She emphasized that planting trees not only improves air quality but also contributes to combating climate change, supporting biodiversity, and enhancing the beauty of our surroundings.

The event was both educational and inspiring. Students pledged to take care of the planted saplings and promote such green practices in their daily lives. The collective effort of the students and faculty made this plantation drive a successful and memorable initiative.
