Tote Bag Painting

4th April 2025

The Institute of Vocational Studies recently hosted a successful tote bag painting workshop led by expert artist Shivangi Singh. Students enthusiastically participated in this hands-on creative session where they learned various fabric painting techniques specifically for tote bags. Ms. Singh demonstrated multiple methods including free-hand design, and textile medium applications that produce professional-quality results. Participants came with plain cotton tote bags and a wide selection of fabric paints to create their unique designs.

The workshop focused on both practical skills and artistic expression, with Ms. Singh emphasizing sustainable fashion alternatives through personalized accessories. Many students created nature-inspired motifs while others opted for geometric patterns or typography designs.

This workshop aligns with the Institute's commitment to providing practical, industry-relevant skills that combine creativity with marketable abilities. The painted tote bags were displayed, showcasing the diverse talents of participating students.
