Report on Origami Paper Activity
Date -27th March, 2026

“Creativity begins with simple ideas; even a piece of paper can become something beautiful.”

The Institute of Vocational Studies organized an Origami Paper Activity on 27th March 2026 in the college premises. The activity was conducted with the aim of encouraging creativity, patience, and fine motor skills among students through the art of paper folding.

Students from different departments participated enthusiastically and created various beautiful origami items such as paper flowers, birds, butterflies, boats, and decorative designs. The activity helped students explore their imagination and learn how simple paper can be transformed into meaningful and attractive objects. It also promoted concentration, coordination, and creativity among the participants.

The activity was conducted in a very joyful and interactive environment. Students shared their ideas, helped each other in folding techniques, and displayed their finished creations. The faculty members appreciated the creativity, teamwork, and interest shown by the students during the activity.

The Origami Paper Activity was not only enjoyable but also educational. It encouraged students to think creatively and develop patience and precision while performing the task. The activity successfully conveyed that learning can be fun when creativity is involved.

In conclusion, the activity created a positive and creative atmosphere among the students and motivated them to participate in more such artistic and skill-based activities in the future. It was indeed a meaningful and enjoyable experience for everyone.
